Hi Wayne, my friend will give me all I need, which is lucky if it works. I can cut 2 pieces and try them in corners. For measuring all I have is an octave analyzer (old Audio Control D-11), I have to change out preamps to hook it up, will try to find time today or tomorrow. Will do before and after. Is there another measuring tool that is fairly cheap? (Of course just listening to any change is key.) I will also weigh the rigid board to find lbs/ft<sup>3</sup> as that seems to matter? Don
