Subject: Re: I've been following..... Posted by Manualblock on Sat, 10 Dec 2005 13:39:34 GMT View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Good stuff. Personal Insight is a rare commodity in this hobby. They are experts on how things sound; but try and find some insightfull essays about music and they are non-existant. And god help you if you disagree with a position; then all that civility flies right out the window. No one wants to admitt that there are no facts; there are only theories in the process of evolving. People love to promote the notion of civil discourse and reasonable debate...until you disagree with them. Thats why I like political argument; it's more civil than audio discussions. Good point; life without music.

Page 1 of 1 ---- Generated from AudioRoundTable.com