Subject: Creative VS Shock 5.1 computer speaker setup
Posted by moparchris on Fri, 26 Dec 2003 07:33:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

hi, i dont know ytoo much about speakers or anything but anyway here we go.. im thinking of buying some 5.1 setup for my computer, i dont have too much money, just a cheap one.. ya know but.. its either some Creative Inspire 5200's (ahh i think 3" sattelites, 6" sub, sattelites are 6W, sub is 17W, they sound pretty good to me, my dad got some so yeah..) orr..... i get these (i dont have long before the auction ends so i need advice.. FAST :)) Shock Wooden A-856CE 5.1 3000W Speaker with remote ok.. what does it mean by 300W, i wouldve thaught it meant total of all the speakers but ahh sounds a bit much to me for a cheap setup.. theyre a bit more $$$ than the creative ones but.. http://www.trademe.co.nz/structure/listings/0002-0362-0212-/auction-7803361.htm if theyre better might as well and theyre new even though theyre being sold in that auction, they have a remote.. but i couldnt really care less the creative ones have a remote thats wired but dosnt matter my rooms quite small and im gonna be right in front of it most of the time anyway. so ahh yeah.. what is better why ? and is it worth the extra $50NZD for the Shock ones ? (something like 30USD mabie..) ok thanks in advance :)