

---

Subject: Atwater Kent Model 37

Posted by Bradshaw on Fri, 01 Apr 2005 23:36:08 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Howdy folks, Newbie here. I have an Atwater Kent Model 37 radio. I'm looking for the cloth to go in the E3 or E2 speaker (don't have the speaker with me). One of the "timing bands", for lack of correct term, that gangs all three capacitors together was broken. Have fixed that with a piece of spring steel from a small measuring tape. Anyone know of other things to watch for before I try firing this radio up? There was a rats nest in the box. I've cleaned all that out, vacuumed real good, and made sure there was no naked wires to short out. Any and all help appreciated, Bradshaw

---