Subject: Re: airline radio
Posted by Wayne Parham on Wed, 13 Apr 2005 03:26:27 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Do he tube filaments glow? Have you tested or replaced them? How about the capacitors? Have they been replaced or are they original? Usually, the capacitors in old radios are bad, and many times one or more tubes are too. Sometimes the tubes are good but capacitors are almost always bad in radios older than about 50 years.