Subject: Re: ward aline radios
Posted by Wayne Parham on Fri, 26 Jan 2007 16:52:33 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Airline brand radios were sold at Mongomery Ward and were generally made by an OEM and branded as Airline. Mongomery Ward offered several models through the years. There are some books that show various old radios and old catalog and magazine ads, but there were so many brands and models made that the books I've seen only cover a tiny selection. There is relatively little information on Montgomery Wards radios because they sold so many varieties. If you need service information, it's best to try to identify the chassis and find an OEM chassis that is close, using the schematic for it.