I'd love to see it. Post a photo if you can. As for a source of tubes, try BOI Audioworks. For any you can't find there, try Antique Electronic Supply. You'd be surprised how inexpensive they are. It won't cost much to re-tube your radio. When you do, keep the old tubes and try them one at a time to find out which ones still work. You might be surprised how many of them still do.
