Check out the link below. I wondered why I hadn't seen Mike Baker around here more but now I know he's been busy with the Lansing Heritage speaker project. I don't know how I missed news of this undertaking - Must've been asleep at the wheel. Too many other things goin' on in my world.Anyway, this is an exciting project that promises to deliver an excellent design. It sort of spans the market between DIY, prosound and home ultra-hi-fi as so many of the projects interested in any of those areas, check it out!
