Subject: Which receiver should I invest in?
Posted by Joel Hailey on Sat, 30 Jun 2007 19:06:38 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have a Fisher 500-T that I picked up at a second hand store. Cosmetically it is very nice, but the power fuse blows when the unit is plugged in. Obviously it needs some repair. I also have a Harman Kardon HK 450. I am currently using this receiver, but it really needs going through, as the switches and pots are dirty. If I were going to pick one of these units to put some money into, which should I choose? What I like to listen to is all over the map, but does not include hard rock, metal or rap. Thanks in advance for any advice!