Subject: Re: AIWA CX-NMT240
Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 28 Aug 2007 13:57:55 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You can't disable the power saving feature? Try cycling the power. That may allow you to reprogram the unit. Otherwise, if you're doing what the manual says, it may be broken. I had a car stereo like that once - You couldn't set the clock. All other features worked but it wouldn't enter the clock setting mode. The only way to do it was to wait until noon or midnight and remove power at that time.