Subject: Amorphous metal
Posted by Wayne Parham on Wed, 06 Apr 2005 09:28:14 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yes, this is called amorphous metal, and it is very interesting. We were discussing it a while back for use as a radiating membrane in the thread called "Amorphous metal diaphragms." I thought it might work well for a compression driver to extend response without all the peaks from breakup resonance.