Subject: Traynor YCV20 EQ Problem

I recently bought one of these amps, I really like it. I have noticed one strange behavior with the EQ. The treble needs to be turned almost off, no higher than 1, in order to get a normal sound. Both the mid and bass work like you would expect, settings somewhere in the middle range. I am wondering if maybe there is something wrong with the amp or maybe a tube replacement might be needed. Has anyone else run into this?
