

---

Subject: Infrequent amp useage

Posted by Shane on Mon, 10 Oct 2005 00:54:24 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

After moving over a year ago I find myself using my guitar amps less and less. I used to play them every day including 3-4 hour sessions 3 times a week (band practice) and gigging on the weekends. Now that my priorities have changed I'm lucky if I pick up the guitar once a month for an hour. How often would it be prudent and beneficial to fire the amps up to keep the caps and such in good working order? I have a Peavey 5150, a nice '67 Fender VibroChamp, and an old Crate SS amp.

---