I currently purchased a Sovtek mig 100 h head, and I have never played one before. I hear that they are amazing amps, and you can really dial in a fairly accurate jcm800 brownsound sort of tone. I am really going out on a limb by purchasing something strictly by hearsay, it's something that I've never done before. I wanted to know if any of you seasoned gearheads on this board have gotten a chance to experiance one of these amps, and if you have, is my description of one accurate??? Thanks
