I had one of these as a kid, but the amp was toast. So I traded out the Jensens with those in my Univox combo and chucked the head. Somewhere along the line I unloaded the cab. But I still look for these occasionally because I once read a review that said they were really quite good for their time. I just located a dealer that has one, and perhaps they would be kind enough to take some detailed dimensions of the speaker cab if they still have it in stock (and you still need the info, of course). Here's a
