any possibility you could elaborate on that? i'm very nervous, it's my first tube amp and I've been told using the wrong cables can screw up the amp... So a shielded 16 gauge speaker cable like the one I have (in the link) should be just fine? The manual would tell me to use unshielded because? (which I cant even find) and somebody told me I should be using 14 gauge? eRR my head is buzzing... I just don't understand it, but cant risk screwing this thing up.TIA
