Thanks for the info. The speakers are the originals and I used to have Weber Alnico's in there but they were a little too bright and not enough blues. So the originals are in there now. I don't really know of anybody near me that could bias the amp so I'll have to look into it. All the research I did on the hot tube pointed to bias and it makes sense, the amp doesn't push nearly like it should. I'll look into those tubes and see what can be seen, Thanks for the input. Cheers, Jason
