Subject: Re: EIA vs. RMS power
Posted by Bill Wassilak on Fri, 06 May 2005 13:04:42 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

EIA measures at 1% thd at 1khz usually, where RMS is the usable power measured under the full bandwidth 20-20khz, which is .707 of the peak output of the amplifier. Usually the RMS power is just a little under what the EIA ratings are.