Subject: Another question
Posted by MWG on Fri, 14 Jul 2006 19:53:34 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Our little museum is looking to buy some sort of remote broadcasting system to transmit music from one place to another. The distance being less than 750' We rented something last year but the guy we rented from is not very helpful once he found out we wanted to buy one.It doesn't need to have more than two channels. What is a good model quality wise? We're looking for durability so we don't have to buy it again. It'll only be used 2-4 times a year but it needs to work when we need it.I hope the questions made some sort of sense