Hi wayneI found that the Z fold was the easiest,I didnt ever attempt a W horn,because my ones tend to have long paths and small mouths.I like the Z fold aswell due to the fact that only one panel requires 2 critical mitres on it,and all the mitres(4) are easy ones. Also driver access is good,but the rear chamber size tends to be good for the prosound woofers being large.Perhaps the W/C still rules for short paths?
