The list of participants is on the Prosound Shootout website, so that will tell you what will be there. I believe we have a very good representation of systems, from those that are easy for one man to lift and carry to the big brutes. Everyone was invited, we made announcements here and on ProsoundWeb.com, so the regulars on both forums have had ample time to sign up. The weather in Tulsa is generally nice this time of year, between 70° and 85° average daily highs.
