Subject: Re: More funny life
Posted by Leland Crooks on Sun, 12 Mar 2006 18:51:46 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

From my statistics days a real sample consists of at least 1k. All of the various greek alphabet error corrections (can't remember) get thrown completely out of whack with small samples. Once upon a time I really knew this stuff. Not much call for standard deviations in a rental yard.