I finally acquired enough pieces to play Bullit so I could watch the chase scene and be happy I still need a sub but the sound is decent through what I have. The Pioneer receiver isn't the most musical thing I've ever listened to but it's a cheap model. I have around 400.00 in the whole shebang and while it wont replace my 2 channel system it has it's place. It does make a movie come alive which is it's reason for being.
