Here's the itinerary: Finish Line - Cindy McTee : This was a piece commissioned by the Amarillo Symphony and was played for the first time that night. Violin Concerto in D Major, Op.35 -- Erich Korngold : This was the piece that virtuoso Stephanie Chase played on. She was very, very good! Prelude and Love-Death from "Tristan and Isolde" -- Wagner : They put the beginning and end of the opera together. Very nice melding of the two. Kamarinskya -- Glinka Ride of the Valkyries -- Wagner (Of course). This was also the last performance for the ConcertMaster (1st violin) who had been with the symphony for 9 years. She was very good and I think I actually preferred her sound to Chase's. Her tone was more full and warm than Chase's was. Very pleasant to listen to.
