
Subject: Re:Insert flap "A" and throw.....

Posted by lon on Mon, 02 Aug 2004 02:50:50 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That's a good tip on back-cutting clockwise. Was wondering if I was using too much pressure laterally too. The machine has got a good enough workout that returning it would be real problematic. There's still a laminate gizmo to play with for flush trim and a circle cutter. The wholeshebang only cost $30... not including the standard router bits I bought. I have a diamond stone... may I can touch up the bit and get the -- melted glue or whatever black crud is on it. File cabinet is upright. Drawers not done yet-- too hot here.
