Subject: Re:Insert flap "A" and throw..... Posted by lon on Mon, 02 Aug 2004 02:50:50 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That's a good tip on back-cutting clockwise. Was wondering if Iwas using too much pressure laterally too. The machine has got a good enough workout that returning itwould be real problematic. There's still a laminate gizmoto play with for flush trim and a circle cutter. The wholeshebang ony cost $30... not including the standard router bits I bought. I have a diamond stone... may I can touch up the bitand get the -- melted glue or whatever black crud is on it. File cabinet is upright. Drawers not done yet-- too hot here.