Hi All,So - I have a stage 4 kit at home (thanks Wayne). I have built speakers before, recessed drivers, BUT: What optiones do I have for the edges? Last time I built I just glued the pieces together - then of course you see the full thickness of the wood - not really professional looking....The plan is to use solid oak for the cabinets. I can get that quite cheap, cut to the right size. Any direction on how to get nice looking edges are appreciated.Thanks,Roland
