Subject: Re: Harbor Freight
Posted by colinhester on Sun, 03 Jul 2005 14:53:04 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have a couple of Ryobi tools (table saw and router w/table) that are marginal build quality. They are good for the occasional use. This is pretty much the same opinion I have of Harbor Freight, except with HF I know what I'm getting. I have a number of HF tools and they are perfect for the one-time or infrequent use. I bought a drill bit counter sink set and a drum sander attachment from HF that I swear are the same as Rockler sells.....Colin