Subject: What's wrong with Ash?
Posted by GarMan on Wed, 13 Jul 2005 20:01:53 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'm doing some pricing for a few project I have planned for next month, and as always, looking for ways to cut cost without reducing quality. My question is, what's wrong with ash compared to oak? Hardness-wise, it sits between red and white oak and is more stable than both. Why it is priced 1/3 less than oak and why is oak still popular for furniture and cabinets?