Subject: Re: An uncraftsman question-- Cabinet grade plywood
Posted by lon on Tue, 17 Oct 2006 15:37:55 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thanks for the replies.I just figured that cabinet grade (cheapo stuff fromHD might have less of the annoying "there's some plywood" figuring in the panels.One thing I found that should be more stable isthose glued up panels at Menards (in the Midwest USA).They look like butcher block so I suppose it depends onhow dutchy your decor is.