
Subject: Re: Spend the money on precision
Posted by Bob Brines on Sat, 24 Mar 2007 21:27:03 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Since you are not going to use as table saw, I recommend a PC 423 circular saw. It's a left hand saw which is better for precision cuts by a right hander. That's opposite the recommendation for rough framing. At the low end of acceptable is the PC 690 router. I have one with both the plunge and fixed mounts. I use both to the point that I am going to buy another motor so I don't have to keep switching. Bob
