Subject: Re: Tubes and wood.
Posted by Jeffery L on Thu, 27 Dec 2007 21:42:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

What would stop you from you using phenolic sheet? It seems the mechanical and electric properties would be ideal. What would also stop you from using a thin copper, aluminum, or steel sheet on the underside of the chassis for shielding or ground if needed?