Subject: Re: Tubes and wood. Posted by Jeffery L on Thu, 27 Dec 2007 21:42:39 GMT View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

What would stop you from you using phenolic sheet? It seems the mechanical and electric properties would be ideal. What would also stop you from using a thin copper, aluminum, or steel sheet on the underside of the chassis for shielding or ground if needed?

Page 1 of 1 ---- Generated from AudioRoundTable.com