hi Douglas,Are you the Sec-7G in AA?Yes, it seemed that people here are friendly and can understand each other!!I just pull out a FLuke scope meter I bought from Ebay 6 months ago and play around with it. The last time I used a scope was in the Uni 25 years ago... Boy am I so old already now??I do tweak a lot on tubes and SS amps and DVD player audio board. Too lazy to build a new amp from scratch and that's way I hope to see if tehre is any project here I could participate.I do collect vintage amps, tuner, and R2R decks, and try to make them sound good....Now I hope to play with CCS after denying it for some time. I consideration was that they are mainly SS and it is sort of dynamics balancing of current and voltages.... wouldn't it introduce noises and oscilation to the amp.Best rgdsWilliam Lee
