While attending the GPAF which I had a blast at, I saw quite a few Tulsa folks there who mentioned that they get together. Do these happen often? Wayne might remember me as I was with Carl right before dinner. Carl was the guy responsible for me showing up as I met him on another forum dedicated to Home Theater which is my general interest but I do consider myself to be an audiophile and one that has alot to learn. Mark's Audio Note room was the best in show for me but I have to say that Wayne's PI horns were the only horn I could say that I actually liked. The others were and are too shrill for my tastes. Kudos to you. Anyway if another Tulsa get together (even if it's to shoot the breeze or share audio stories and music), let me know. I'll pop in from time to time now that I know about this place.
