I had a post to address this issue but after returning to post my thoughts I see you already have. Good Show; if you are straight with people and humble; you have no problems. Why Wayne and Yourself would have to even consider what others think is crazy; you both have proven yourselves over and over again; what else is there to say? Any discussions you guys have just serve to benefit others. That's why following out a thread is valuable; you never know what sits around the corner waiting to illuminate the subject.
