Subject: Re: measuring grid chokes

Posted by PakProtector on Wed, 14 Dec 2005 23:59:20 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hey Colin, Excellent idea. It won't do any good with the current situation. I could have God himself measure, and there would be knuckleheads comming out of the woodwork claiming that the numbers did not mean a thing. I do have access to the best, both at home and at the local University. There are also a few audio enthusiasts from work who feel the same about a well stocked lab as I do. I've a few sources of guidance, should that become an issue. And then there's the statistical variation...cheers, Douglas