Hey-Hey!!!,Well Jeff, I'd say you missed my point by a mile or two. The Seth is simple, and fits that easy to build description quite well. The new front end is even simpler. It was not my intent to criticize its simplicity.Remember, I am not in the business of selling parts for a tyro to assemble into an amp. I am not in the business of selling parts so an experienced person can build an amp either. I'm just a another DIY-er who would share the methods discovered. cheers,Douglas
