I'm not really blessed with a lot of extra time at this point, so it will be a little while before I can actually do anything. But I can start procuring parts, and maybe get a metal shop to fabricate a chassis. I'm kind of wanting to do it right, have a nice chassis made and chrome plated, that sort of thing. So I'll need to make sure of all the dimensions and what not before I start. As for transformers, I don't know what direction I'll take. I sort of expected you would have a part in mind. If Heyboer has a part available, that would be cool. Or maybe a James transformer or Audio Note. I dunno.
