Yeah, the tile guys use it for an undercut saw. None of the crews I've worked with in the past own one, but they sure love the fact that I have one. Stupid me did not get the package that included the miter attachment. This would have saved a lot of time in 1/4 round installs and other small trim. There would be no getting up and going outside to cut on a miter saw. The cuts could be done right next to where it's getting installed. Over a couple of jobs it would have paid for itself in saved labour cost alone.....C
