Welcome to the Swap Meet forum at AudioRoundTable.com! This is the one place where advertisements and listings of items for sale are allowed, in fact, encouraged. Here, you may post links to your eBay auctions, or mention sales of new or used products and/or services. This is also the only place where announcements of commercial nature are allowed, whether by individual or by company representative.Please keep your posts limited to products and/or services relevant to one of the forums on this site. That generally means products or services for audio or video. You can post sound systems, speakers, room treatments, measurement services, etc. Just don't post hair-tonic, growth hormones or dating services. There are better places for those kinds of ads, so posts for things outside the realm of audio or video will be pulled.
