

opening for the public. I was extremely pleased with how everything sounded this year. I was bring something different to each of the shows, sort of change things up. But as many who have been around me or read the forum for any length of time know, I am most fond of this loudspeaker. I like the Audiophile Series a lot too, and the Theaters and Studios are nice. In fact, speakers do. Nothing. I've always been most fond of these. For amplification, I alternated between using the Stoetkit and the Profet amps. I've really become fond of these little amps. They're modest and affordable, but they just sound great. I think the Stoetkit is the best value in tube amp kits out there, and the Profet must be the cleanest amp I've ever heard. I ran the Profet preamp with the Profet main amp a lot throughout the weekend, and I must say, the sound was exquisite. Click photo for larger view
