Hey charlieboy, Your dedicated room is very organized, and as I like to see, full of vinyl. It is nice to see that you are enjoying music that spans for many years, especially with your 78 collection. I for one have not been able to let my vinyl go for an all digital system, as many that I know have. I guess it is a convenience to just plug a CD into a player and let it go. CD sound has made great improvements from the early 1980's. But, it is far from the perfect sound forever that it was dubbed back in its early days. Welcome to the Roundtable, glad that you decided to join in with the many nice people who post here. An audio hobby can be fun, but it is the people who make it much more enjoyable. I am looking forward to sharing in your experiences. Norris Wilson
