Bill, I might have a interested person for your amp. But if someone lays down the "cold hard cash", it is not a problem. I don't know how the amp is still available, it has a custom paint job to die for, and has been worked on with TLC by Bill, and I can testify to that as we have discussed many of the tweaks and mods as he has been working on them.Take a good look at this boys and girls, you might be passing up a great deal if you let this one go.I am like Wayne in that I have many amps already, plus I concentrate on the single ended amps anymore(triode and pentode that is).Ron
