David Gray is an English singer/songwriter who I would describe as having a neo progressive rock sound.  Mostly acoustic and electric intruments lightly seasoned with electronic sythns.The Crystal Methods is one of your better techno/electronica dance bands out there.  Not your typical thump-a-thump music filled with gratuitius bass that you hear coming out from sup'ed up Civics.  Deep deep bass in most of there pieces, but used with a lot of discipline.
