

---

Subject: Pi vs Klipsch

Posted by gcw on Sat, 24 Mar 2001 03:04:50 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I have been a big fan of various Klipsch speakers for many years. I have owned LaScalas and Heresys. I have thought I would buy Klipschorns when I could. I have been reading with great interest on the High Eff forum about Pi speakers for a while now. I have used JBL speakers for years in PA work and I like them very much. My question is this: How do the Pi corner and folded horns loaded with JBLs compare to the LaScala and the Klipschorn? Also what is the price of the Pi speakers unloaded? I have looked at the Pi site and it has so many models it confuses me. I can't tell which model is for home use and if it is loaded with Eminance or JBL drivers. Is there a way to tell? Sorry for so many questions. Thanks for the forum. More information is always a good thing.