Thanks for the doghouse plans Wayne. ;)With the right tools, it is not that hard to build. I used biscuits to join everything, very strong joints and no screws to hide. It took me a little longer to build because I am too cheap to buy all the clamps needed. It took me a few days to clamp everything together. But I am very happy with the results.Still no woofer, but I should get it any day now. I will post my impressions here.Jeff
