I am going to build 5 cabinets when I build my Four Pis because I need a center and surround speakers as well. I cannot afford to build all five of them with the 2426H driver , the center and surrounds will have to use the PSD2002 driver and used JBLs .It is especially important that the center channel match the left and right channels , they need to be voice matched.What is the sonic differences between the 2002 and 2426?
