That was a very good review and I'm happy that you're satisfied. I do wish we could see your speakers, because the way you mounted the drivers sounds very attractive. I think I can imagine how they look with the textured finish that you've used, and I wish we could see them. Are the cabinet sides birch and the front baffle black, or is the entire cabinet black? I can imagine that a laquer piano black would be attractive. Does the textured paint provide a "sprackle" finish, like a rough vinyl, or is it more of a course grain like sandpaper? Thanks for sharing your impressions and please find a way to post pictures of your speakers sometime! And by the way, you're right - "There's no substitute for cubic inches."
