I will be more than happy to let everyone know what I think. But I must say that I will be taking any equipment recommendations with a grain of salt. As I do for all equipment reviews in any magazine. I am mostly interested in opinions of other audio related topics. For instance I found his "10 Biggest Lies in Audio" to be very interesting. Can't say I agree with them all but I like to read different opinions by different people. Especially about topics I like such as audio.
